

GENERAL VILLA REPORTED TO HAVE RESIGNED AS COMMANDER OF NORTHERN MILITARY ZONE; CARRANZA'S JUAREZ OFFICES CONFISCATED

Seizure of Offices Is Taken as Conclusive Evidence of Long Predicted Split Between Con- stitutionalist Leader and General Villa—Northern Mexico in Villa's Control

OTHER CARRANZA OFFICES TAKEN OVER

BULLETIN.

EL PASO, June 16.—Gen. Villa tendered his resignation to Gen. Carranza within the week, it became known tonight. To Villa's message the constitutionalist commander in chief replied, asking who would succeed him.

Following this, Villa's various military chiefs held a conference and sent a "round robin" to Carranza declaring that they would accept none other than Villa as leader. The split of today resulted.

Gen. Villa tonight ordered all commanders of garrisons throughout the territory he controls to report at once at Torreón. This order was accepted ominously by observers here.

The history of the Pascual Orozco revolution against President Madero was revived. Orozco, as Villa, was leader of volunteer troops of Chihuahua state and as a popular favorite led a revolution against the former president.

EL PASO, Tex., June 16.—Reports that Gen. Villa had resigned as commander of the northern military zone were confirmed partially here tonight. Carranza's offices at Juarez were confiscated by Villa supporters tonight. Similar confiscations are authentically reported to have taken place at Chihuahua City and at Torreón, where Villa remained today.

The seizure of the offices in Juarez tonight was taken here as conclusive evidence of the long predicted split between Carranza, leader of the constitutionalist revolution, and Villa, his most successful chieftain.

Private advices received here at a late hour told of the similar taking over of Carranza offices at Chihuahua City and Torreón, evidently placing the entire northern part of Mexico in the power of Villa's military leaders.

In addition to the information bureau and telegraph, it later was learned that the customs house and the treasury department at Juarez had been confiscated by Villa's officers.

H. Perez Abreu, Carranza's publicity agent, was reported as jailed, and it was made public that nearly all of the employees of Alberto Pani had been arrested. Pani has been in charge of the treasury department at Juarez and has been the trusted relay man in the recent exchanges between Carranza from Saltillo and Zubaran company at Washington, who in turn transferred the messages to the mediators at Niagara.

Manuel Bonilla, Villa's confidential agent at Juarez, said tonight that he had been ordered to hasten to Torreón to confer with his chief. Although Villa's persistent military successes had occasioned speculation regarding his relations with Carranza, the matter did not receive serious consideration until the appointment by Carranza of Panfilo Natera as commander of a newly created military zone. Natera's appointment placed him in charge of a strip of country which Villa previously had planned to invade, including the yet uncaptured city of Zacatecas.

Natera attacked Zacatecas, while Villa remained at Torreón, viewing the experiment from the rear. According to reports from Mexico City, completely confirmed by private advices from the revolutionists' front below this point, Natera was defeated decisively in frequent attempts to take the city.

Then it was that Carranza requested Villa to rush to Natera's assistance. This was several days ago and in the meantime reports continued to arrive of Natera's defeats. Villa remained at Torreón.

The matter of who should regulate the public service in northern Mexico has been admittedly a bone of contention between Carranza, the leader, and Villa, the subordinate. Under the old regime the railroads and telegraph were subject to the central control from the national capital.

All of the officials ousted by Villa today were appointees of Carranza, whose civil cabinet had taken over the management of the railroads and telegraph and incidentally the information bureau, in accordance with the prescribed custom in Mexico.

Mission is a Failure.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 16.—Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the American delegates to the mediation conference went to Buffalo today and talked for four hours with Rafael Zubaran and Luis Cabrera, personal representatives of General Carranza. Their purpose was to find some way to bring the constitutionalists in harmony with the scene of mediation. The mission was a failure.

The constitutionalist representatives who had come from Washington especially to see the American delegates told them why they could not agree to an armistice; why only a man prominent in the constitutionalist ranks will be accepted by them for the provisional presidency and finally they say they believe the constitutional army will settle the Mexican problem soon if left unhampered by foreign complications.

The Americans returned to Niagara Falls feeling that so far as the political pacification of Mexico is concerned, mediation had accomplished nothing and probably the end of the conferences was very near.

The next full conference is set for Friday at 11 a. m. Until then little will be done because of the absence of Minister Naon of Argentina. Most of the principals here incline to the view that Friday's session may be the last. The three mediating plenipotentiaries have practically abandoned hope of solving Mexico's internal problem, the Huerta delegates are resolute in their determination not to accept a constitutionalist partisan for the provisional president and there appears no feasible way of keeping all elements in conference much longer.

Only developments, not now foreseen such as a change of attitude on the part of the constitutionalists or of the Huerta delegates can keep the conference in session.

"NO COMPROMISE" IS WAR CRY OF ADMINISTRATION WOODMEN

"Regulars" March to Fray at Toledo
With Majority of 40 Over 219 Necessary to Elect Head M. W. A.
Officers.

Toledo, Ohio, June 16.—"No compromise" was the war cry of 259 pledged Modern Woodmen of America administration adherents at the opening of the order's triennial convention today.

With 259 of the 436 delegates pledged allegiance with the administrative faction and a majority of forty over the 219 necessary to elect head officers, the "regulars" marched to the fray.

Whether the insurance rate question will come up on the floor of the convention was not definitely decided at the close of today's session.

Insurgent delegates contended that their views of changes in rates with be accepted while administration followers are equally certain that all traces of insurgency will be suppressed.

Little was accomplished at today's session. Developments which will create a stir in the encampment, are expected to come with the completion of the business which is now being transacted by insurgents and administration adherents sitting as separate bodies.

Organization of administration followers and of the Sundeau insurgent faction took place in a monster caucus. The administration slate provides for the re-election of Head Consul A. R. Talbot of Lincoln, Neb.; election of James McNamara, of Rock Island, Ill., to the office of Head Clerk, to succeed Charles W. Hawes, of Rock Island, resigned; election of John D. Volz, of Indianapolis, to the office of head banker, to succeed David S. Meyers of Pontiac, Ill.; and re-election of the five directors: A. N. Bort, of Beloit, Wis.; E. E. Murphy of Leavenworth, Kansas; R. R. Smith of Brookfield, Mo.; S. S. Tanner of Minier, Ill., and F. R. Korns of Des Moines, Iowa.

Advent of John L. Sundean, original insurance rate insurgent and his following of twenty three delegates from Minnesota at the administration caucus, was greeted with uproarious acclaim.

SECOND DISAPPEARANCE OF PATMONT UNSOLVED ILLINOIS SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

POLICE UNABLE TO FIND SINGLE CLUE CONCERNING MISSING MAN

Detroit Officers Claim Evidence Surrounding "Dry" Worker's Disappearance Does Not Sustain Theory of Kidnaping—Mrs. Patmont
Last to See Husband.

DETROIT, Mich., June 16.—The mystery in the disappearance of the Rev. Louis R. Patmont deepened tonight when the police searching the house where the missing local option worker has been residing admitted they had not found a single clue.

The minister's wife said today she was the last friend or relative who saw Mr. Patmont before he dropped out of sight last night. She said she left her home with him early in the evening and they noticed two men who had been following her husband all day. She returned to her home and the minister ran for a street car, she declared. When he did not return she notified the police.

Mrs. Patmont and Rev. C. F. Witte of this city, who took a prominent part in the search for Mr. Patmont when he disappeared from Westville in March, are still emphatic in their statements that the missing man is the victim of enemies he made when he campaigned for the "drys" in the Illinois local option fight.

"Some of the police have intimated that they think the abduction of Rev. Mr. Patmont is a fake, planned for publicity purposes," said Rev. Mr. Witte today. "But those who think so should investigate before they say so. We court investigation in the fullest degree."

The missing man was to have left early today for St. Louis to attempt to identify a man held there on suspicion of being one of his kidnappers.

The police officials claim the evidence surrounding Mr. Patmont's latest disappearance does not sustain the theory of kidnaping.

"I don't know where he is, but we are working hard to find him, and when we do locate him I think we will explode the theory that he has been kidnaped," said Captain of Detectives John Palmer.

CHIEF STATE BANK EXAMINER TO REPORT ON BANK'S CONDITION

Daniel V. Harkin Will Arrive in Springfield This Morning to Confer With Auditor Brady and Attorney Lucy.

Springfield, Ill., June 16.—Daniel V. Harkin, chief state bank examiner, on whose recommendation State Auditor James L. Brady last week closed the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank of Chicago, will arrive in Springfield this morning with a report of an examination which he has been conducting of the bank's affairs.

"The report is not complete," was the word conveyed to the auditor's office tonight by Harkin over the telephone, but is regarded as sufficiently comprehensive to enable the auditor and Attorney Lucy to determine upon what action will be taken.

"The auditor and myself expect to meet Mr. Harkin early tomorrow morning," said Attorney General Lucy last night. Most of the day will likely be spent in going over the situation with the chief examiner. Until arrangements were completed last night for Harkin to come to Springfield with his report the auditor and attorney general had planned to go to Chicago.

Late in the day Munday declared that work was still being done on the reorganization of the La Salle street bank.

"It is not true," he said, "that the plan for the reorganization has been abandoned. We are working on a plan to pay depositors dollar for dollar."

Captains In River Horror Who Blame Each Other For Accident.

Here are the two sea captains whose stories differ as to the responsibility for the Empress of Ireland disaster in the St. Lawrence river, in which over 1,000 lost their lives and about 450 were rescued. Captain Kendall commanded the Empress, and Captain Andersen was in charge of the collier Storstad, which rammed and sank the liner. Each blames the other for the accident.

INVESTIGATOR OF SOCIAL CONDITIONS TALKS PLAINLY TO WOMEN'S FEDERATION

Director Kneeland of Department of Investigation of American Social Hygiene Association Bases His Remarks on Statistics Gathered by His Dept.

Chicago, June 16.—George K. Kneeland did some very plain and unexpurgated talking to delegates of the General Federation of Women's clubs in convention here today.

Mr. Kneeland is director of the department of investigation of the American Social Hygiene association. His remarks were based on statistics gathered by his department. He found that a prolific source of supply to commercialized vice comes from girls between the ages of 15 and 18 years, the dangerous age of the development of the racial instinct and that a startling minority of these comes from homes other than those of poverty and ignorance.

Mr. Kneeland's agents in the last year have gathered complete histories of 300 girls. Contrary to the general impression that the majority of these girls are feeble-minded or subnormal, Mr. Kneeland said that the majority were quite intelligent. "Some of them," he asserted, "facing the delegates squarely, 'come from such homes as yours. Their fathers are store keepers, real estate agents, managers of large enterprises and one the daughter of a minister. Their fathers own yachts and automobiles. We have letters from them showing marked intelligence and facility of expression. We have photographs of others and you will agree with me they are typical American girls, daughters of respectable and prosperous parents."

"But it is only fair to say that the majority are poor, ignorant, with a wide knowledge of evil, little conception of good."

Finds Certain Characteristics.

All through the reports of agents the speaker found certain characteristics among the girls. They are rebellious towards home and parents; they are suspicious and scornful of boy friends whom they call "boobs." Desiring secrecy they prefer to meet strangers and married men.

"They shrink from exposure and while they present an innocent and demure front to their friends, they show themselves in their true colors to strangers," said the speaker.

"Strangers come and go and married men are like people living in glass houses, they say."

Mr. Kneeland said that dancing and impassioned love scenes on the stage intensified the sex appeal. He urged the women to protect and help save these girls.

Several Resolutions Adopted.

The vice traffic and tight skirts were attacked in the resolutions

CHIEF ACTORS GIVE DETAILS OF EMPRESS OF IRELAND TRAGEDY

Opening Session of Dominion Investigating Commission Held in Quebec

CAPT. KENDALL'S STORY

Main Argument of Witness Is that He Was Stationary When Rammed by Collier Storstad

TWO COMMANDERS DISAGREE

QUEBEC, June 16.—Graphic details of the disaster to the Empress of Ireland, that cost more than 1,000 lives, were given by the chief actors in the tragedy today at the opening session of the Dominion investigating commission, of which Lord Mersey is the chairman.

Although Captain Kendall of the Empress still limped from the injuries he received in the disaster, he refused a seat and faced the court on his feet.

After an hour of questioning he collapsed and declared that he could remember no more of the events attending the disaster.

So far the main arguments of Captain Kendall that he was stationary when rammed by the collier Storstad and of the owners of the collier that the Empress placed herself in front of the Norwegian vessel which had the right of way were only emphasized.

Questioned by Lord Mersey as to why he stopped his ship when he had turned his green light to that of the Storstad, in conformity with navigation rules, Kendall claimed he took the step as a safeguarding measure, owing to the fog. He could not be induced by the lawyer for the Storstad, C. S. Haight, to admit that his boat could have drifted in front of the Storstad, unless the collier had changed her course after the fog hid her from him, which was the case in his opinion.

That the collier had not changed her course after first sighting the Empress through abortive attempts had been made to port her helm after she had been slowed down, and that the Empress was crossing her bows, were the principal points made in the testimony of Alfred Tuffenes, first officer of the Storstad, who was examined during the afternoon. This witness also repeated the story that the Empress' sailors refused to go back in boats to carry on rescue work after once reaching the Storstad. Mr. Haight supplemented the evidence of Tuffenes at the request of Lord Mersey, by giving as his explanation of the disaster a belief that the big liner thought she could cross the bows of the slow going collier and that her helm was ordered ported by one officer and starboarded by another, suggesting a confusion of orders that Captain Kendall indignantly repudiated.

RETAIL MERCHANTS WERE GIVEN FINE CONCERT

Large Audience Present in Music Hall at Women's College to Hear Program.

A recital for the Chamber of Commerce, in honor of the Retail Merchants, who are assembled here in state convention, was given Tuesday night in Music hall of the Women's college by Mrs. Helen Brown Read, soprano, Mr. Donald M. Swarthout, pianist and Mr. Max V. Swarthout, violinist.

Every available space in the hall was filled by the visitors and friends and the concert was one of unusual excellence. The program was well chosen and gave the musicians a splendid opportunity to show their varied talents. The work of the Messrs. Swarthout has ever been a delight and their efforts last night found a genuine response from the audience. Their ensemble playing as well as individual work called for musicianship of a high order. Mrs. Helen Brown Read has always been a favorite in Jacksonville and her friends never miss an opportunity to hear her beautiful voice. She sang last night with unusual abandon and artistic interpretation and she, as well as Messrs. Swarthout, were caused to respond to encores. The visitors in the city on leaving the hall spoke in the highest terms of the entertainment afforded.

How I Produced 12 Pounds of Beef From One Bushel of Corn.

I bought 44 cattle through Milton Marshall & Co., St. Louis, of Henry Wright, they averaged 961 pounds, March 13, 1914 in St. Louis. I put them in dry lots March 27th, fed them all they would clean up in 30 minutes, crushed corn, cob and all then cooked in the 50 bushel size Wood's Grain Softener.

I put them on grass May 25th, they averaged 1200 lbs. when put on grass. While in dry lot I gave each steer 5 lbs. clover hay. After they ate their grain, I kept out straw before them all the time, but they would not eat over one bale of straw per day. I fed at 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., at regular hours.

I measured the grain fed with a No. 8 scoop, feeding 50 scoops at each feed or 100 scoops per day, all they would clean up. I put in 20 bushels ground cob corn and all into a 50 bushel vat. This will fill it making 50 bushels feed, which makes 4 feeds, all they will clean up. I drew 50 gallons of syrup off and added 50 gallons of water, then added 1 1-2 bushels of ground oats and shorts, with which I mfeeded 80 pigs that are doing well.

I will feed the cattle about 30 days longer and would be glad to have any one interested come and see them.

NINE ARE GRADUATED FROM ROUTT ACADEMY

EXERCISES ARE HELD IN AUDITORIUM TUESDAY NIGHT.

Very Rev. J. W. Crowe Announces a Gift of $2,000 to Schools, Church and Hospital By the Late Joseph Kuehne—Interesting Program is Given.

Routt College auditorium was filled Tuesday night on the occasion of the ninth annual commencement exercises of the academic department of the institution, when nine young people were graduated. The graduates are: John William Groves, Loretta Anna Bergschneider, Bernard Joseph Walsh, Elsie Catherine Howe, Thomas Joseph Walsh, Mary Agnes Kelly, Frances Veronica Tuite, Leo Francis Donovan and Helen Louise Butler.

Very Rev. J. W. Crowe, the members of the faculty and the graduates marched into the auditorium and took their places on the platform when Miss Margaret Ring played the march. The platform was decorated with American flags, cut flowers, college pennants and streamers.

Extends Welcome to Audience. As salutatorian of the class John W. Groves extended a welcome to the audience in behalf of his classmates and also spoke a word of appreciation for the privilege which the class has enjoyed in attending the college. His address on "Good Roads" is printed in another part of the paper.

Miss Loretta Anna Bergschneider had for her subject "The Dignity and Results of Labor." She first told of the activity of all the different things of creation, such as the planets, plant life, insects and said that everything in nature is on the move, bearing testimony to the dignity of labor. She also told of the difficulties the famous men of history had to overcome in order to attain what they did and that their rise was the result of their activity. "God has given each man something to do," said Miss Bergschneider, "and we must seek out our work and do it the best way that we can." Here the speaker gave illustrations of the patience and perseverance necessary and told of the time and study that authors, musicians and persons of other professions must do in order to become proficient in their line of endeavor. In her closing statement the speaker set forth that three of the greatest means of success are practice, patience and perseverance, and characterized perseverance as the greatest of these.

Bernard Walsh, in his oration on "Aeronautics" traced man's attempts to fly back as far as 900 B. C. when Archytas and Tarentum invented a wooden dove which would raise itself from the ground and sail away. He told of the work of the pioneers in balloon and airship building and Langley's attempts at inventing a man-carrying heavier than air machine and down to the recent work of the Wright Brothers in their successful experiments with aeroplanes; the fast progress in modern aeroplane building, in speed and stability of heavier than air craft, of its passenger carrying possibilities and of the high altitude that can be attained in the machines. Concluding, he said: "In France there are two aerial mail routes, in Germany there is one and in England there is one. It is found that the aerial service is about twice as fast as the railroad service."

"In war the aeroplane, it is thought, will be of greatest value. In fact it has been proven so in the Balkan and Mexican wars, where successful scouting and bomb dropping have been done at a height of three or four thousand feet. In fact the aeroplane is so formidable in war that scientists predict an era of universal peace and good will as a result of its invention."

Discusses Educational Problem. "The Educational Problem" was the subject presented by Miss Elsie Katherine Howe. Her oration was prepared in a manner which plainly showed that the subject was given thorough study. When about half through her speech Miss Howe fainted and was carried from the hall, but speedily recovered. A summary of her address follows:

"The entire course of our country's short, but glorious career as a nation has been blotted by the ravages of vice, the treachery of anarchy and the seditions of hostile factions. We saw Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley fall by the hand of the assassin. We watched with eagerness the futile attempts of the governments, both state and national, to suppress and eradicate these evils; and we witnessed in each instance the utter failure of their ill-directed movements. The future depends upon the younger generation, and to them we must turn our eyes."

"Education, often hailed as the 'savior of the nation' has come to be a practical necessity. The most stringent laws, the confinement of prisons and even the gallows have failed to stem the steady advance of vice and corruption. Crimes of the most atrocious nature are committed almost with impunity and to the detriment of all law and order. Therefore, since these things are so, we must change our tactics and point out by good Catholic teaching, as well as example, the garland path of virtue and close forever the insidious byway of debauchery and crime." She attributed the fact that many are uneducated to the laxity of laws which govern education of the youth and also to the power of Socialism and to the lack of a religious education.

In his consideration of the question, "Should the Philippines Have Self Government?" Thomas J. Walsh gave some statistics regarding the islands and told of the method used by the United States in governing the people, told of the cost of maintaining them and presented a number of the arguments used in defending the affirmative side of the question. In defending his position that they should not have self-government, he set forth that no fault can be found with the United States government of the people, of the progress made by the natives since the islands were taken over by this country and of the temptation to other governments of taking possession should the United States leave the natives to govern themselves.

"The last argument," said Mr. Walsh, "is that the Philippines are not capable of establishing a firm government. No Malay colony has ever or even can hope to form a successful government. They are too easily governed and too easily led. Such men like Aguinaldo are waiting for the opportunity, should this opportunity present itself and the men gain the upper hand in the government, then there would be native wars in less than thirty days. Most of the Filipinos have at one time been head hunters, and if the firm hand of the United States were withdrawn, would fall back to their old pursuits."

Tells of Peace Movement. "It was in the beginning of the nineteenth century," said Miss Mary Kelly, in her oration on "International Peace," "that this movement was begun. It was only natural as civilization progressed that people would seek some way to bring the different nations together. The first successful congress was the Hague, and in 1912 the second Hague conference was held with better results than the first. The different nations have decided to hold another Hague conference in 1915, and we hope it will be the most successful peace gathering ever assembled. Peace is a rising tide of moral enthusiasm, and it is slowly coming to the front and making wars impossible."

Miss Frances Tuite gave a reading, "The Governor's Violin," in a most finished manner and held the undivided attention of her auditors. The story was that of a convict who had served twenty years for murder, sending to his governor his violin at about Christmas time, with an earnest appeal for clemency; how the music of the old fiddle told the executive the history of the prisoner and ended with the convict's pardon.

"Haymaking," by Needham, was sung by Miss Marguerite Butler, and so well did the audience appreciate the selection that the singer was forced to respond to an encore.

"Home Rule," by Leo F. Donovan, and the valedictory address, "The Origin of the Red Cross," by Miss Helen Butler, were next given. Both orations appear in another part of the paper.

Announces Gift to College. Before presenting the diplomas to the graduates, Father Crowe announced that the late Joseph Kuehne had in his will left $1,000 to the college, $500 for the parochial schools, $200 for the Church of Our Savior and $300 to Our Savior's hospital.

"We have only $101,000 endowment," said Father Crowe, "but we have a greater endowment in the self-sacrifice of those who are giving their time to this institution. Father Formaz, two of the sisters and Mr. Harvey Routt give their services gratis, and the foundation of this institution is self-sacrifice. 'Year in and year out it has been impressed upon these students that these halls are freighted with destiny, that the habits formed here will go to make or mar their future life. They live here in a religious atmosphere. The students of this school are also instructed in religion and if they go wrong they are not to plead ignorance. They are able to defend themselves against the evils of the world and are taught to be obedient, which is the basis of all civilization."

"Just here I wish to announce that heretofore we have had four years of high school and three years of college in this institution, and when we open September 1 next it will be with a four year college course. To you graduates I would say, remember your teachings, your benefactors, your parents and others who have made possible your education. Cling close to Christ and be faithful to the dictates of your conscience, and if you do this you will be an honor to your school."

Father Crowe then presented the diplomas. When he read Miss Howe's name he stated that he was sure there was no boy or girl in the auditorium who would not feel envious of Miss Howe in presenting such a well prepared oration and expressed his sorrow that she was not strong enough to finish it. He gave the diploma to one of the graduates to give to her.

NICHOLS PARK BOARD PLANS SHUTTLE TRAIN SERVICE.

Commissioners Held Conference With C. & A. Officials Tuesday.

Members of the park board met with officials of the Chicago & Alton yesterday to confer as to the possibility of running shuttle trains to Nichols park July fourth and during Epworth League week and the Chautauqua. Such a service was maintained on a special occasion a year or two ago and the Alton handled a vast crowd in a satisfactory way. While complete arrangements have not yet been made the plan is to have the service tried out again on July Fourth when a celebration is to be held at the park. The trains will be run to a point opposite the pavilion thus landing passengers well within the confines of the park grounds.

CARE AND PRECISION ARE AIM IN ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS CLINIC

Every Effort Is Made to Keep Accurate Records and Teach Patients Proper Living Methods—Second Free Examination Given Tuesday.

Anti-tuberculosis work in Morgan county has again been begun in a practical way and the success of the second session of the free clinic Tuesday morning, with a class of ten present for diagnosis, is a promise of more effective activity than ever on the part of the Morgan County Anti-Tuberculosis League. The clinic is open from 10 until 12 o'clock each Tuesday and Friday morning at 309 West State street. The first clinic was closed on account of lack of funds after a life of eighteen months. Much effective work was done and a basis laid for future activity. The physicians present at the Tuesday morning session were Drs. Hardesty and Woltman, assisted by Miss Olmsted, the public health nurse.

When a patient comes to the clinic he is examined after a definite plan, the procedure being exactly the same for each. The physician in charge keeps a careful record of his findings, recommends further tests and the treatment required. If at the next session of the clinic a different physician is in charge, a complete history of the case is available at a glance and the examining doctor can proceed without loss of time. It is the aim of the physician to make a thorough examination and find minute lesions which may easily yield to treatment, but which if neglected might cause irreparable injury. "It is this thorough investigation of each patient," said Dr. H. C. Woltman at a recent meeting of the Morgan County Medical society, "that constitutes the humdrum of clinical work and still the enthusiasm of the volunteer. To make the clinic a success it means a persistent effort on the part of the profession, as well as on the part of the public and the visiting nurse."

Have Anti-Tuberculosis Map. Although but a few of the cases more amenable to treatment have as yet been examined at the free clinic, there is on record a total number of 82 needing attention. Through the efforts of Miss Geneva Morrison and Miss Sadie Guild, former visiting nurses, the anti-tuberculosis league has a map of Morgan county showing the location of all known cases of tuberculosis as reported a year ago. This map will now, of course, need revision. It was the completion of this survey which put Morgan county among the first in the state with regard to the care of the tubercular poor, and as Dr. Woltman suggests, "it is up to the physicians to make the free clinic a success and hold Morgan county in the front rank."

One of the greatest benefits of a free clinic to a community is the knowledge of preventative measures diffused. The patient and his relatives are taught the danger of infection and how this may be avoided. "This will probably be the chief benefit derived by the majority who attend. Many of the patients applying will be far advanced, beyond human aid, but if the public can be protected against infection the work with such cases will not have been in vain."

ATWOOD-ERIXON CASE MAY GET TO JURY TONIGHT

Defendant Will Introduce Letters to Show That Writer Made No Reference to Alleged Loans—Mrs. Atwood Did Not Believe in Banks.

The case of Mrs. Edna Atwood against S. T. Erixon is still on trial in the Sangamon county circuit court and it is possible that the evidence will all be concluded today. It is stated that in the proceedings this morning that Mr. Erixon will introduce a hundred love letters which Mrs. Atwood wrote to him. The purpose will be to show that none of the letters made any reference to his alleged financial obligation to her.

Mrs. Atwood according to her story yesterday, always was in possession of several thousand dollars, but evidenced a distrust of banking institutions by carting the cash around the country in a trunk. She even put it in storage in Chicago when she left that city in 1908 to engage in the dressmaking business at Jacksonville. She declared that $4,000 in bills was in a trunk which she stored at a warehouse while looking over the ground at Jacksonville.

Mrs. Atwood experienced financial distress during the years she was in business in Springfield at 308 East Lawrence avenue, according to testimony, and the defendant charges this condition to alleged loans made the defendant.

Mrs. Atwood stated that she was left property valued at $3,500 and several hundred dollars in cash by Nicholas Burkhardt, her first husband, who died at Continental, O., in 1889.

STILL SPECULATE AS TO MR. MONTGOMERY'S SUCCESSOR.

County Commissioners Have Received a Number of Applications—Mr. Montgomery to Retain Office Until Certifying Law is Effective.

No further announcements have been made with reference to the superintendency of the State School for the Blind but there seems to be no question but H. C. Montgomery is to assume the superintendency about the first of July. However, no official announcement has been made by Governor Dunne and Mr. Montgomery has made no statement and has not filed his resignation as county superintendent.

There is an understanding that he will hold his office until July 1st, at any rate, owing to the fact that the new certifying law will go into effect on that date and that he probably wishes to complete a number of matters pending with reference to certificates of Morgan county school teachers.

Meanwhile, there is a good deal of talk to successor, the county commissioners will appoint to hold the office until Dec. 1st, when the official elected in November will assume his duties. Charles Bennett is said to be an applicant for the position in addition to G. A. Hillier and Herbert H. Vasconcellos. Charles Boston, deputy county clerk, has served for nearly four years as clerk in charge of the county board records and therefore has friendly relations with all the commissioners and it seems to be conceded that he has some inside track for the appointment if he desires it. However, neither the commissioners nor Mr. Boston state positively that he is an applicant.

BAILEY DAWSON'S GUESS.

Abraham Lincoln spoke in this city one night, early in 1859. After the talk Mr. Lincoln walked away from the place where he had spoken with Richard Yates, his co-temporary. As the two statesmen passed along, Bailey D. Dawson said to Benjamin R. Upham, "There goes the next President of the United States, and the next Governor of Illinois." Mr. Dawson told the writer of this statement, and the writer asked Mr. Upham about it. Mr. Upham corroborated Dawson's claim. This was surely not a bad guess, and, at the time, a great many people would have derided it.

WHEN BAILEY TRIMMED HIS BEARD.

When Umarara led his host of warriors in the woolly West, Our Prairies' ornament and boast Depended over Bailey's vest; Smoking his pipe of virgin clay, And with tawdry paints besmeared, What reeked the red-man of the day When Bailey Dawson trimmed his beard?

Why, many a pulling wee papoose Clutched wildly at those silken strands, And Minehaha—silly goose—Once stroked it with her dimpled hands;

And often through the hoary mass The prehistoric winds caressed, How futile are those winds, alas! Since Bailey Dawson trimmed his beard.

And in the Grand Pacific, where He'd spent the greater part of life, There fell such denseness of despair You might have cut it with a knife. One plaintive voice in terror spoke As that fresh-barbered face appeared "Well, I'll be darned," said John B. Drake.

"O! Bailey Dawson's trimmed his beard."

And thou, O whiskers! soft and white, What warmth exuded from thy strands;

How didst thou temper winter's spite To Bailey's maxillary glands! Why, that dependence from his chin Was so admired, loved, revered That properly 'twas deemed a sin When Bailey Dawson trimmed his beard.

(Written for the Sharps and Flats column of the Morning News in 1891, reproduced in the Chicago Herald, June 16.)

ditional rooms in private houses. While the session was called to order in the Odd Fellows lodge rooms on East State street, Tuesday morning, T. M. Tomlinson, chairman of the retail department of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce presided, and made very brief remarks. After the invocation by Rev. W. E. Spoons, Mr. Tomlinson introduced John J. Reeve, president of the Chamber of Commerce who welcomed the visitors on behalf of the organization and also laid emphasis upon the advantages Jacksonville has as a place of residence and from a business standpoint.

Mayor Davis' Welcome.

He was followed by Mayor George W. Davis, who extended a most hearty welcome to the visitors and told them that if there was anything in Jacksonville that they wanted he would personally see that their wishes were gratified. Mayor Davis also dwelt on the advantage of living in Jacksonville and referred to the splendid history of the city and the many residents of the city who, with passing years have attained at least state-wide prominence. Mr. Tomlinson introduced D. E. Burroughs, of Edwardsville, president of the association who made a response on behalf of the association expressing appreciation for the welcome extended. Mr. Burroughs then took charge of the session and presented his annual report which will be given tomorrow.

The secretary, A. G. Hambrook then made his annual report which was somewhat brief but showed that the association is in better shape than it was a year ago and the Journal, the official publication of the association has made progress. However, the secretary maintained that all that it should and suggested that there is a lethargy among the members which should be done away with.

The report of Charles Abend, treasurer, showed that the expenses for the year were $10,527.38 and the receipts $10,951.55, leaving a balance in the treasury of $424.17. Reports from secretaries of various local associations were heard and were made by Mr. Herb of Alton, Mr. Burns of Belleville, Mr. Gilhofer of Cairo, Mr. Rose of Chicago, Mr. Earhart of Decatur, Mr. Baker of Edwardsville, Mr. Beasterfield of Elgin, Mr. Yingst of East St. Louis, and the adjournment was taken until afternoon.

At the opening session in the afternoon Secretary Fritchey of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce made a report showing the activities in the retailers department and indicating the work which has been done the past year.

Committee Named.
President Burroughs then announced the following committees: Credentials—H. A. Clevett, chairman, Rock Island; M. Kimbal, Elgin; A. Runsten, South End Business Men, Chicago.

Question Box—Joe Leverman, chairman, Chicago Grocers' and Butchers; Henry Becker, Edwardsville; O. D. Schmidt, United Grocers and Butchers, Chicago.

Resolutions—Fred Lehman, chairman, East St. Louis; W. Bigelow, Chicago Grocers and Butchers; A.

F. Cousley, Alton; James Brady, United Grocers and Butchers of Chicago; Charles F. Tuckhorn, Edwardsville.

Auditing—Joe Schroeder, Chicago Grocers and Butchers; M. Vandervelt, Moline; Herman Weber, Jacksonville.

Rules and Order—George H. Kingsbury, chairman, Rock Island; J. C. Strehley, Litchfield; J. C. Ehrhart, Decatur.

Reports—Jonas A. Johnson, chairman Chicago Grocers and Butchers; B. Jacoby, Alton; N. Lovejoy, Moline.

Jonas A. Johnson, chairman of the committee on reports presented a report which made a number of recommendations. One was that the association favor affiliation with the National Federation of Retailers and this matter after some discussion was referred to the directors with instructions to bring it up for final action at the next meeting. The report also commented upon the lack of support given the Journal the official monthly publication of the association and suggested that something should be done in order to increase the interest therein.

George A. Scherer of Peoria and A. G. Hambrook emphasized some points relative to this matter and Frank Lyons of this city told of the value he placed upon the publication, although much of the matter contained relates especially to the grocery business. Sol Westerfeld, chairman of the trade relations committee of the National Association of retail grocers, objected to the tone of pessimism which prevailed in some of the criticisms of the paper and laid emphasis on its strong points. Mr. Hambrook defended the members of the association who do not read the Journal by saying that the matter related to exclusively the grocery business while many of the members are engaged in other lines. There was still further discussion of the publication which proved of interest.

National President Spoke.

The next speaker announced on the program was Mr. Westerfeld, but he said that he wished to give his place on the program to Frank B. Connelly of San Francisco, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers. Mr. Connelly happened to be in Illinois at this time and was persuaded to come to this convention and also to attend a convention of jobbers in Minneapolis. His address related particularly to the value of organization and he explained how it is possible for the national association comprising as it does local association, in thirty six states to be of value in promoting advantageous legislation and in stopping obnoxious legislation. He also spoke of the protection the national association gives to the local and state organizations in other ways and he also took occasion to strongly endorse the good work done by Mr. Westerfeld.

The Auto Parade.

After some other matters of business the convention was adjourned for the afternoon and it was announced that automobiles were in waiting. John S. Hackett was in charge of the arrangements for the auto trip and the itinerary included a visit to the Capps mills where the visitors were shown the interesting process of making raw wool into the finished garments and were also given souvenirs of their visit. From the mill the party drove through the west part of Jacksonville and then out past Jacksonville State hospital to Nichols park returning by East State street past the Schol for the Blind. Those who agreed to furnish automobiles for the party were as follows: C. N. Priest, E. E. Crabtree, Marcy Osborne, Harry Hofmann, J. A. Obermeyer, J. O. Priest, G. S. Gay, J. W. Skinner, W. J. Brady, Fred Kumble, J. E. Hoffman, J. Bart Johnson, George Wolke, J. S. Hackett, S. W. Babb, C. F. Ehnie, William Newman, C. E. Williamson, Harry Hart, William Woods, Andre and Andre, T. M. WILL PRESS MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL IN HENRY CASE

No Agreement Reached For Settlement of All Cases Pending—Trials on Indictments Charging Killing of Everett and Howard Crain May Be Had at This Term.

Indications are now that the cases pending against John Henry in which he is charged with the killing of Everett and Howard Crain will come to trial sometime before Judge Jones adjourns the May term. It is understood from conversation with attorneys for both defense and prosecution that the efforts made to reach an agreement with reference to the pending trials and the motion for a new trial on the Ezard indictment have failed and that the former action intended will be followed out.

Judge Jones is to come here next Monday and at that time unless there is a change of plans attorneys will agree upon a time for argument on the motion entered for a new trial of the case in which Henry was convicted of manslaughter, for the killing of Charles Ezard. If a new trial is granted it will be had at the November term of court. W. N. Hairgrove of attorneys for the defense said yesterday that it was the desire of his client to have a trial upon the Crain indictments just as soon as the business of the court will permit.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not sleep, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,' remarks a leading druggist.

The expectant mother if she hasn't heard of this splendid embrocation is probably not reading the papers to much extent. And if she does it is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store, 'Mother's Friend' is applied externally over the abdominal muscles.

It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the fine network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. In this part accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of nausea, morning sickness and other distresses. And particularly to young mothers is this remedial application of inestimable value since in thus keeping the muscles firm but pliant it enables them to go through the ordeal without laceration of the epidermis so often the case when this gentle form of lubrication is neglected.

'Mother's Friend' is highly recommended by a host of women. Write Bradford Regulator Co., 508 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

The effect of this splendid external application is an expression of the thousands of women who have successfully used it and recommended it through two generations.

ERUPTION ALL OVER CHILD'S BODY

Began With Small Red Spots. Cried Almost Day and Night. Used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. Well in One Week.

R. F. D. No. 2, Jackson, Mo.—"Our daughter who is ten months old was suffering from an eruption all over the body. In the beginning they were small red spots and afterwards turned to bloody sores. We tried all sorts of ointments but they did not procure any relief for our child. She had no rest day or night and we tried everything to procure relief for our baby."

She cried almost day and night and we scarcely could touch her, because she was covered with sores from head to foot.

"We had heard about the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and made a trial with them, and after using the remedies, that is to say, the Soap and the Ointment, only a few days passed and our child could sleep well and after one week she was totally well." (Signed) August F. Bartels, Nov. 25, 1912.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent dry, thin and falling hair, allay itching and irritation, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, frequent shampoos with Cuticura Soap, assisted by occasional dressings with Cuticura Ointment, afford a most effective and economical treatment. SOME ROUTT COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT ESSAYS

THE GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT

The salutatorian, John W. Groves, delivered an essay on "The Good Roads Movement." He extended an earnest welcome to the people present at the exercises.

"There is no activity in any line of improvement in the United States today," said Mr. Groves, "which equals the movement for better roads. If we look back over the pages of history we see that, soon after the purchase of the territory of Louisiana, Congress appropriated $14,000,000 for the purpose of building a road from Cumberland, Md., to St. Louis, Mo., as a path to this newly acquired land. After 700 miles had been constructed, at an average cost of $10,000 per mile, the project was dropped and the western end of the road was never completed. During the following three quarters of a century this country justly earned the distinction of being the most backward nation in road building in the civilized world. But with the advent of the automobile there came a realization of the defects of our roadway system and the present agitation for improvement began. The national and state governments established experimental stations and 'Good Road Congresses' were held all over the country to study methods of bettering the existing conditions. We now ask, 'What have these experiments accomplished? What means for improving our highways have they devised?'"

"They have accomplished many things and have brought forward a variety of ways and means for the betterment of our roads."

Four General Methods. "Four of the more general methods are: first, the improvement of our present dirt roads by proper grading, leveling of grades, better drainage, and immediate repair of all breaks and bad spots; secondly, the protection of dirt roads by coating them with asphaltic oils; thirdly, by building macadamized roads and fourthly, by making roads of concrete from Portland cement. All of these methods have improved the highways, but increased motor travel has brought forward the question of which one is the most successful. It has developed that neither dirt roads, plain or oiled, nor macadamized roads will stand the wear and tears of thousands of fast whirling automobiles. Only those made of concrete have stood all tests successfully."

"Then comes the question of expense. Shall the nation, the state or the county bear the cost of improvement. Many states, especially those in the south, have solved the problem by employing convict labor, an experiment which has recently been tried in Illinois, with great success and tremendous saving to the people. The national government yearly appropriates thousands of dollars for the improvement of rivers and harbors, but has been very lax in dealing with the matter at hand. Heretofore in this state, each county has maintained its own roads as its own expense with the result that we have our present poor system. But the Tice good road law, it is hoped, will remedy the present conditions."

You hear the question asked, 'Do good roads materially aid the farmer, or are they for the pleasure of the automobilist only?' Let us consider the cost of transportation on dirt and on hard roads. In Europe, where the best road system in the world is to be found, it costs 8 cents to haul a load of one ton, one mile; in the United States the cost is 25 cents. On dirt roads the average horse can pull one ton, or concrete the same horse can pull five tons. It is not then, to the advantage of the farmer to be able to haul five times the present average load at one third the expense."

The Extent of Highways. "Some importance of the need for improvement may be gained from the statement that there are over three million miles of highway in the United States and that 95 per cent have not been improved at all. Does it not seem, therefore, that what is needed in a concentrated movement, on the part of the nation as a whole, for good roads? How much longer is the greatest nation on earth going to be the last in improving her highways?"

"Let us hope, yes let us predict, that if the next 25 years are as prosperous in building hard roads as the last 25 have been in agitating the movement, we will see the entire road system of the United States a continuous pavement, a monument to prosperity and improvement, a rival of the Roman Empire in road building."

HOME RULE IN IRELAND.

"Home Rule in Ireland" was the theme of Leo Donovan. Because of the present day interest in this subject which has been much discussed by the press of both Europe and the United States the essay is presented in full herewith:

"Ireland is a conquered country. Ireland has been conquered over and over again, from one end of the isle to the other. But through war, famine, oppression, unspeakable cruelty and merciless persecution, the unquenchable fire of Irish nationality burns brightly on, undimmed, invincible, immortal and Ireland is unconquered to this day."

"This great question commands the attention of the world today. We who are of Irish descent are particularly interested because of the many lengthy discussions heard in our own homes of the cruelty of the English landlords, the risks taken by our forefathers that they might hear mass, which was celebrated in some obscure cave, and the great sufferings the Irish have undergone for their holy religion. It was these and many other oppressions that brought forth the demand for home rule. We stand firmly by these oppressed people in their demand, and every broad minded man, who is free from prejudice, will adopt this policy when he looks back over Ireland's history."

"We will now penetrate this period of misjudgment. Up to the time of Henry II, Ireland was the only country of Europe that the Danes had not overrun. It was the great educational center of that hemisphere, or in other words, it was the Athens of western Europe. Religion, learning and agriculture flourished."

First Expedition in 1171.

"The first expedition carried on by the English against Ireland was under Henry II, in 1171. This was the beginning of her downfall, for England would not govern her nor allow her to seek out her own government. During the wars with France and the war of the Roses, Ireland was without any form of government. Henry VII, placed Irish lords over Ireland and the country again flourished under her own parliament. But Henry VIII, who wished to rule her with a firm hand, removed the Irish lords and replaced them with some of his English friends. Later, in 1541, he assumed the title of king of Ireland. He introduced the reformation and put 100 pounds on a priest's head and 50 pounds on that of any teacher who tried to educate the Irish children. Edward VI, carried on the persecutions started by his father, and forbade the celebration of mass, but the Irish went with the risk of their lives to the caves in which it was celebrated. Queen Mary, however restored tranquility in Ireland, but this lasted for a very short time and the persecution broke out stronger than ever under Queen Elizabeth. War was declared against the clan of O'Neals in Ulster, in which the queen was victorious and those who had resisted her were put to death. The English settled that province in 1566 and were granted the same privileges and liberties that the people enjoyed in England. Likewise Desmond and his small band of warriors were slaughtered in Munster in 1583, and this province was settled by the English. This, indeed, was a reign of bloodshed and terror."

"Under Cromwell 6,000 men were slaughtered at Drogheda and Wexford. His sword and the famine that followed took away 600,000 loyal Irish patriots. Forty thousand went into exile and over 5,000 women and girls were sold as slaves, while their lands were given to Cromwell's veterans."

"Under William III, Ireland was again invaded and subdued. The treaty at Limerick ended this struggle, but it was broken three hours after the signing. Under the new law a priest would be rewarded with a handsome income of 30 pounds per year if he apostatized. The only expense that England incurred by this was the paper upon which it was written."

"Under Henry Grattan the Irish formed an army of 50,000 volunteers and forced England to allow her trade with other countries. Shortly after this the first Catholic relief act was passed, but this gave no relief, it was scorned and there remained the same state of unrest."

"A new revolution broke out in the reign of George III, and the suppression of this was entrusted to Ulster Yeomanry. Even the leaders, who tried to make this warfare humane, were hanged. Destruction reigned supreme and women, unarmed men and children were shamelessly slaughtered. But in 1800 under Pitt's administration, the Irish parliament was taken away, and they were allowed representatives in the imperial parliament. The means employed in the accomplishment of this were without parallel in history. A million and a quarter was spent in buying the votes of the 80 boroughs. Pitt and his chief secretary used all the corrupt influence at their disposal. The house of commons offered pensions and 34 peerages were promised to the leading borough owners. Even these promises were not kept."

Famine in Midst of Plenty.

"In the early part of Queen Victoria's reign conditions went from bad to worse. In 1846-47 and 48 the great famine occurred amidst years of plenty. In these three years 4,000,000 pounds worth of produce and 49,000,000 pounds worth of livestock were exported from the island. This was enough to feed three times its population, but it was taken away as a payment for rent. The famine shocked public opinion in England, but nothing was done to relieve it."

"When the Gladstone ministry was begun a new era opened for Ireland, one of peace and the awakening of the English to a realization of the heavy guilt upon their consciences. A few years prior to this time Charles S. Parnell began his movement for home rule for Ireland. At first it was scoffed at and a few later Mr. Parnell and Michael Davitt were imprisoned because their tactics were considered treasonous."

"Then to aggravate matters the London Times published a series of forged letters charging Parnell as being an accomplice in the murders committed in Phoenix Park. The defendant eloquently proved his innocence and Parnell, the forger, committed suicide in Madrid, Spain. This restored the great statesman to his former popularity."

"The first home rule bill was introduced in 1886 by Gladstone, but it was defeated by 30 votes. He introduced his second bill in 1892 and after the discussion, which lasted two days, it passed the house of commons, but was defeated by the house of lords."

"Upon the death of these two eminent leaders, the fight was taken up by Mr. Redmond and Mr. Asquith, who are foremost in the Nationalist and Liberal parties. Under their benign influence the home rule bill has passed the house of commons three times, but was defeated by the house of lords twice by an overwhelming majority. These two leaders now hold the balance of power in parliament. On May 25 the home rule bill was passed by a majority of 77. It now awaits the signature of King George before it can become a law. The present ruler of England has been kind to Ireland. We hope that when it is presented for his approval he will see fit to grant Ireland her just dues for the faith and trust that she has placed in the hands of Almighty God. Ireland has given an excellent example of perseverance to the world, equivalent, I may say, to that of St. Veronica."

"Ireland should have home rule because every nation has a right to manage its own affairs. It is only a just compensation for their centuries of oppression. The Irish question should be settled now, once and for all, and this is the only means available for a settlement. It has been the foremost plank in the Liberal platform for over a half century. Can you show me any country that is ruled by England, that was ever satisfied and content. But on the contrary, the United States, Ireland and India are examples of discontent."

"Sir Edward Carson and Arthur J. Balfour have advanced these arguments against home rule for Ireland. That Ireland now has enough liberties and that the home rulers are taking advantage of the majority that exists in the house of commons today to pass a bill that the country does not want. But now, Balfour has changed his opinion against home rule and has left Carson alone to fight against it."

"If Ireland has enough liberties now, why isn't she content? Why did the population of Ireland drop off just one-half if they were content? Although religious prejudice has practically ceased, who can tell whether Ireland will lose her majority in the house of commons and be subject to the same oppressions that have hampered her for centuries? As to whether the country, as a whole, wants home rule has been settled by two general elections by overwhelming majorities."

"Furthermore, Carson says that Ulster as a province does not want home rule. But Ulster is composed of nine counties, five of which are solid for home rule. The Ulsterites are the big financiers of Ireland and they will lose this if the Nationalists and Liberals win. But the real reason is that Carson will not consent to be ruled by a parliament that is composed mostly of Catholics. His fighting spirit and his army are considered by good authority to be the greatest bluff that England has to deal with in modern times. Outside of Ulster we now see both Catholics and Protestants united in working for the common cause. All the old feuds are forgotten and revenge is an unknown word."

"We have seen the past with some of its glories. What is the future to be? What is the future that is yet to dawn on Ireland? How grand will the future be when all Ireland shall be united under the Harp and Shamrock. How wonderfully fair will all Erin be when, clothed in religious, political and civil equality and liberty, the isle of O'Connell, Fitzgerald, O'Connell, Parnell and Redmond shall rise out of the ocean waves, as fair, as lovely, as glorious as in the other days when the world, entranced by her beauty, proclaimed her to be the Emerald Isle, the isle of song and the mother of saints and sages. Ireland emancipated, no trace of blood or persecution on her virgin face, the crown, so long lost to her, resting again on her fair brow, in peace and concord with all the nations around her. Venerated by the nations afar off, and most of all by the mighty nations which in that day, in its strength, and in its youth and in its vigor, shall away the destinies of the world. As Columbia salutes her across the waves, the light of freedom shining from Erin's face will reflect the light of freedom shining from the face of our own nation, which has been nursed in freedom and which has never violated the sacred principles of religious freedom and religious equality. With the light of faith and freedom beaming upon her, Ireland shall stand to the end of time, revered, cherished, beloved, rising in the energy of a second birth, when nations that have held their heads high are trampled in the dust."

"And may every true Irish heart reach out in love and admiration, to the dear Emerald Isle, with respect and honor for the martyrs who have fallen in the strife for the just and the true. And may we, with our individual hearts, strong in love for our principles, strong in faith in our God, give every good wish, prayer and act for the government of Ireland by the Irish and may every true Irish heart say with the exile of Erin: 'God is Good—Eunice Cockin. WILL HONOR "DAD" JUNE 21ST.

Observance of Fathers' Day Will Be General Throughout the United States.

June 21st is to be Fathers' Day. The observance, technically speaking, is very simple and requires but the wearing of a red rose in one's button hole for the living parent and a white flower in memory of the deceased parent. Of course the real observance will extend further than floral self-decoration in the majority of instances and will include much that will add to "dad's" material comfort around home.

Families all over the United States will no doubt endeavor to make things as rosy for Dear Old Dad as possible. The "Don't Smoke in the House" sign will be shoved behind the kitchen door—on this occasion at least; millinery bills, grocery bills and similar annoyances will be tabooed for the day and all bill collectors will be instructed to keep off the front porch during the observance—and Dad will have nothing to do until tomorrow.

The Fathers' movement, which was started by Mrs. John Bruce Dodd in Spokane, Wash., five years ago, has been taken up throughout the country, and the observance has grown to be of national interest. Germany, Sweden, Korea, Japan, Mexico, Canada, Hawaii, India and a few other countries have joined in the observance.

COMMENCEMENT AT PRINCETON Princeton, N. J., June 16.—One of the largest classes in the history of Princeton University received their diplomas today at the 167th annual commencement. The exercises were held in Alexander Hall, with President John Grier Hibben presiding.

The Bullfrog

By WALT MASON.

The bullfrog has a widespread voice, the loudest ever born; his singing makes the world rejoice and chorale—in a horn. When the swallows wing their way, as does the dove, the cheerful bullfrog starts to sing a lay of home and love. He warbles like a frog—or bull—down in his swampy lair, and people plug their ears with wool, and storm around and swear. The frog obeys no rhythmic rules, and folks who hear him, say, "We'd rather hear a thousand mules when they rear up and bray." Each night he struts up human ginks to wild, unseen wrath, and yet no doubt the bullfrog thinks he's cutting quite a swath. Perhaps he mutters to his frau, as is the way of males: "Don't talk about your robins now, nor yet your nightingales! In some things I do not excel," the modest bullfrog cries; "I doubt if I could dig a well or make crabapple pies; I do not boast about my skill at making ginger beer, but when a song is on the bill, I feel I have no peer." And I've met men and women, too, just like the bullfrog host; the very things they cannot do are those of which they boast.

DOWNWARD MOVE BREAKS MONOTONY ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Professional Traders Take Decided Position on Short
Side of Market

DAY'S BUSINESS NOT LARGE

NEW YORK, June 16.—The monotony of recent days on the stock exchange was broken today by a definite downward movement. Professional traders took a decided position on the short side. It was soon evident that the list was more susceptible to pressure and selling increased. While the day's business was not large stocks were put out steadily enough to force a progressive decline amounting to a point or more in a long list of stocks.

With bearish sentiment in the ascendency the street attached importance to the stream of gold which is still flowing out of the country.
Today's engagement for gold for Europe amounted to $5,500,000 bringing up the week's total thus far to more than $10,000,000 and the amount involved in the present movement to nearly $50,000,000.

Since January 1st, $65,000,000 of gold has been taken for Europe.

SOME ROUTT COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT ESSAYS

its organization. Her address, in part, follows:

"In the moving army the elements of destruction, armed men, and munitions of war, brave the right of way; and the means of preserving and sustaining even their own lives are left to bring up the rear as best they can. Hence, when the shock and crash of battle is over and troops are advancing or retreating and the medical staff trying to force its way through with supplies, prompt and adequate relief can scarcely ever reach the wounded. The darkness of night comes down upon them like a funeral pall, as they lie in their blood, tortured with thirst and fever. The memory of such scenes set a kindly Swiss gentleman to thinking of ways and means for alleviating their horrors. In time, and principally through his efforts, there resulted the Geneva Convention for the relief of the sick and wounded of armies.

"The convention was called at Geneva, Switzerland, on August 4, 1864 and was composed of delegates accredited by the heads of the governments of the world. Its purpose was to discuss the practices of war and ascertain to what extent the restraints of the established military codes and its dealing with the sick and wounded of armies were needful for the benefit of the service; and to what extent they were needless, or benefit to no one, causing only suffering, of no strength, and might be done away with. The result of this convention was a compact of one government with many governments—the first ever made—known as the Treaty of Geneva, for the relief of the sick and wounded in war.

"It's basis was neutrality. It made neutral all sick, wounded or disabled soldiers on a field; all persons, as surgeons, nurses and attendants who cared for them, all supplies of medicine and food for their use; all field and military hospitals with their equipment; all gifts from neutral nations for the use of any army; all houses near a battlefield that would receive and nurse wounded men. None of these should be subject to capture. It provided for the sending of wounded men to their homes, rather than to prison; that friend and foe should be nursed together and alike in all military hospitals, and most of all, that the people who had heretofore been forcibly restrained from approaching any field of action, should not only be allowed this privilege, but should arm and equip themselves, with relief of all kinds and with the right to enter the lines for the helpless. It provided a universal sign by which all this relief, both of persons and material should be known. A Greek red cross on a field of white should tell any soldier of any country within the treaty that the wearer was his friend and could be trusted and any officer of any army that he was legitimately there and not subject to capture.

Many Nations Represented.
"Over forty nations are in that treaty and from every military hospital in these nations floats the same flag; and every active soldier knows he can neither capture nor harm the shelter beneath it, and every disabled man knows it is his haven.

"The first important war after the signing of the treaty of Geneva was between Germany, Italy and Austria. In Austria over $400,000 besides a great amount of material were collected and made use of for the relief of the combatants. Germany raised between three and four million dollars in a short time. The wounded enemy was tenderly cared for and everything was accomplished so well and so systematically that it proved an incalculable value of organized, authorized civil aid. In the Franco-Prussian war the German Red Cross performed even better service, having learned many valuable lessons in the German-Austrian conflict, and through their efforts an infinite amount of good was accomplished and great suffering averted. Not only were the wounded and sick soldiers cared for, but the unprovided families of soldiers were also supplied. For the Spanish-American war the American Red Cross collected and expended about $12,000. The nurses from the United States were greatly assisted by the societies in France and Portugal, who acted in strict accordance with the principle of neutrality.

"In the thirteen years of relief work done by the Red Cross in the United States, every dollar and every pound that has been received and distributed by it, has been the free will offering of the people, given for humanity without solicitation, and dispensed without reward. It has received nothing from the government. No fund has been created for it. No contributions have been made except to those to be distributed as relief at its fields. Its officers serve without pay. There is not nor ever was a salaried officer in it, and even its headquarters meets its own costs. Among the various appropriations made by congress for relief of calamities in the past years, as in great river floods, not a dollar so appropriated has ever been applied through the Red Cross, although working on the same field.

A Woman's Work.
"There remains but one point more. To whom is this movement due? Who instituted it? In what minds did it originate? I should like to say it was all woman's work; but truth compels the fact that this great humane idea originated with men; the movement was instituted by them. They thought it out, and they wrought it out, and it was only meet and proper that they should for the terrible evil that made it necessary was theirs as well. Women, as a rule, are not war-makers. For centuries the caprices of men have plunged the world in strife, covered the earth's surface with armies, and enriched its soil with the best blood that ever flowed in human veins. It is only right that, in the cycle of ages, something should touch man's heart and set him down to find some way of mending as much of his mischief as he could. Perhaps he builded better than he knew for in that one effort he touched the spring that sooner or later will mend all."

COLORADO SUNDAY SCHOOLS.
Denver, Colo., June 16.—Many enthusiastic young delegates came to Denver today for the opening of the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Colorado State Sunday School association. The large attendance and the attractive programme combine to give promise of one of the most successful conventions ever held by the association. Leading speakers on the three-day programme are E. C. Knapp of Spokane, Prof. Charles Fordyce of the University of Nebraska, and Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, elementary superintendent of the international association.

WARNING.
The premature celebrating of July 4th by discharging revolvers, firecrackers, placing dynamite caps on street railway tracks, etc. are positively prohibited.

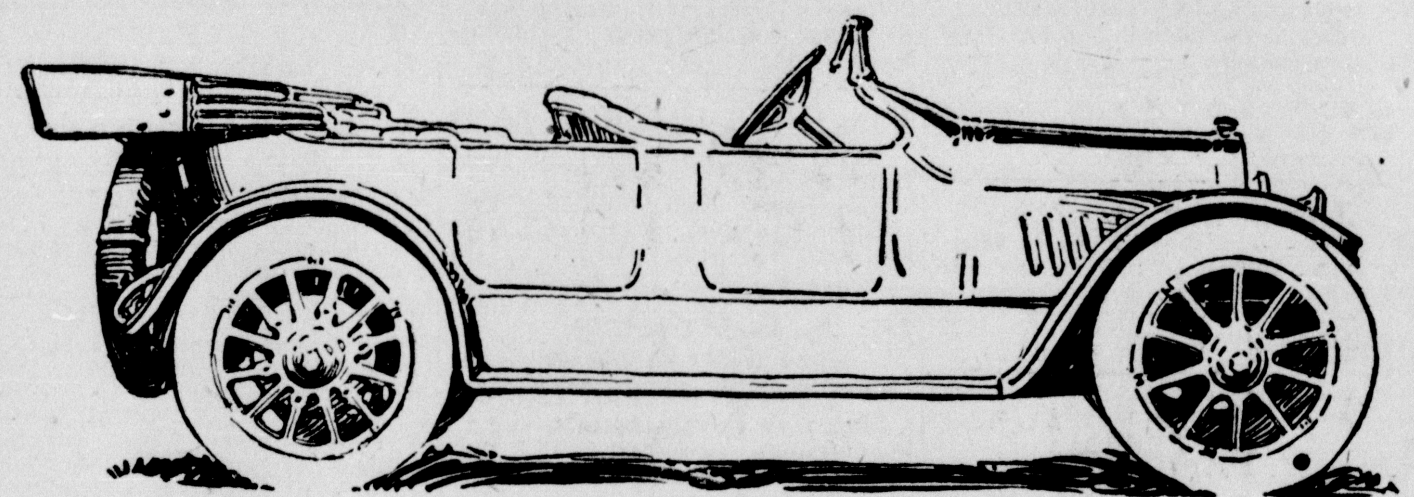

Persons violating this will be arrested and fined.

Chief Police.

YOUNG LAW BREAKERS.

Some people never seem to appreciate a good thing when it is given to them. The custodian of the First ward playground has been annoyed by the shooting of firecrackers and has been unable to detect anyone at it, as the evildoers run when they see him coming. The chief of police has issued a warning and all who see fit to shoot firecrackers before the Fourth will do well to heed the warning or go to jail.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

A short ride in a northwesterly direction yesterday disclosed the fact that a lot of what is being cut and a lot more is waiting, probably for a binder which cannot be had on a moment's notice. Chinch bugs are making some depredations, but farmers are generally on the alert and are hoping to get ahead of them to a great extent. One of the best fields of corn was found on the farm of Charles Rowe. Last year it was in oats, which were a failure, and the hogs were turned in on it and the weeds grew as high as a horse's back. They were mowed and cut up with a disc and then plowed under, making a fine humus for the land. This spring the land was disced twice early in the season, harrowed and planted. For cultivating, Mr. Rowe uses a peculiar implement which he calls the Tower cultivator. It consists of blades three inches wide and six inches long if six are used to a cultivator, and 24 inches long if four are used. These stir the ground to only a small depth, but they get away with the weeds in good shape, as a file is carried right along and the blades are kept sharp as a knife, almost. This is milk weed and nettle year and to get ahead of them requires something more than the long time used pointed cultivators.

Mr. Rowe is going over the field the third time and it will be the last, with two horses or mules, as the corn is getting too high for the machine, but he will follow right along with one horse or mule plows or cultivators probably, as the corn is almost mature and surely out of danger of weeds. Mr. Rowe has ten acres in pasture and house and barn lots, forty in corn, twenty in oats and twenty was in clover, but it failed and now it is planted part in alfalfa, part in rape, and a little in corn. He prizes alfalfa, but says a farmer should beware of having too much land in it. It is fine when we have such dry seasons as we have had for curing it, but when the weather is wet and muggy and the crop has to go to the manure heap it is hardly as attractive. And then, too, the harvesting of it comes at a time when other work is pressing.

Mr. Surratt is a neighbor on the Erixon farm. He was cutting a fine field of turkey red wheat which will yield 25 or 30 bushels to the acre. Chinch bugs were in it and started for the adjacent corn and had already taken possession of five rows before they were noticed. Mr. Surratt is now dragging the space between the infested rows and the rest of the field and hopes to keep out the pests.

Mr. Rowe uses prepared road oil and if the bugs get too thick will make a ditch. He says the right kind of an emulsion sprayed on infested corn will kill the bugs, but it is a tedious process.

W. B. Groves was busy cutting his wheat, which also promises a fine yield, and he had a good corn crop under way. He is one of the good farmers and will no doubt have a good account to give of his year's work.

J. W. Cleary was away from home and couldn't be seen by the writer, but the farm showed the usual good cultivation for which the gentleman is noted. He has a pleasant home and is well prepared to enjoy life all right.

The Graves brothers whizzed away in the McFarlan 6 automobile as the scribe approached the place, and so he failed to interview them. The fine farm they own is rented to Thomas Allen.

A remarkably fine view is to be had from the residence on the Cortes Dewey farm occupied by Charley Hadden. Mr. Hadden has the farm under good cultivation and is a gentleman who deserves to succeed. He takes good care of the premises, the garden and the land and is making good. He has 60 acres in wheat, 125 in corn, 10 in oats, with some pasture. He was cutting his wheat, which is Turkey red, and bids fair to yield about 20 or 30 bushels to the acre; 25 anyhow. He had a fine double team of mules and was taking down a wide swath at every round.

He is feeding 80 hogs with corn and they are running on bluegrass pasture and are doing finely. They are Poland China breed and though less than a year old, will be ready for market next month and will have a good weight.

His farm was somewhat infested with army worms, but he got ahead of them with coal oil and ditches, and his crops didn't suffer severely. He is fearful of some trouble with chinch bugs, but will take due precautions in time and hopes to get rid of them also. In his wheat he sowed clover seed broadcast both ways early in the season, the latter part of February and the fore part of March. By that means he says it will in a measure freeze in and grow up with the wheat and this year he seems to have secured a pretty good stand of that invaluable crop. With seasonable rains hereafter he says he will have a good stand.

The last call was with the scribe's good friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Robinson at Gravel Springs. They are farmers on a small scale, with good crops of what they have planted. They have a fine garden and things all about them are in good shape. Mr. Robinson says he has pumped as much as 10,000 gallons a day from the wonderful spring and still the water flows right along.
